

How to subscribe to RSS feeds from the Family Law website

At the top of the What's New in Family Law and What's new on the Family Law website pages, there are RSS icons/links at the top of the page that look like this:

1. Click either the icon or the link and the following dialogue box appears:

2. Click "Subscribe" and the following screen appears:

3. To view the feed, you have two options:

- To view the feeds in Internet Explorer, click the star or link that says “view my feeds” at the top left side of the page (see below).

(The next time you open Internet Explorer, click on the star at the left side of your screen to open the Favorites Center again and view your feeds.)

OR

- To have your RSS updates sent to you as e-mails in Outlook, go into Outlook and double-click the folder called “RSS feeds” that appears between your “Inbox” and your “Sent Items” to see the feed from the family law website.
